

MILEX 2023 Fall Workshop

AI + Information Literacy Instruction

Friday, November 17, 2023, 12:00 PM to 4:00 PM

Robert L. Bogomolny Library Forum (412), University of Baltimore

Join us at this year's MILEX Fall Workshop to explore ways information literacy librarians can discuss and use AI in instruction. If you have current lesson plans or ideas for future instruction, bring your ideas to be workshopped!

This is a MILEX Members-Only Event.

Registration for this event is free, but seats are limited!

Parking passes and lunch will be provided.

Please RSVP using this Google Form by Friday, November 10.

Keynote Presenters: Sandy Hervieux + Amanda Wheatley

Hervieux and Wheatley edited The Rise of AI: Implications and Applications of Artificial Intelligence in Academic Libraries (ACRL, 2022) and authored the chapter "Separating Artificial Intelligence from Science Fiction: Creating an Academic Library Workshop Series on AI Literacy."

Sandy Hervieux is the Head of the Nahum Gelber Law Library at McGill University. Her research interests include reference services, information literacy, and the impact of artificial intelligence on user services.

Amanda Wheatley is a Liaison Librarian at McGill University. Her research interests include artificial intelligence, user experience, and entrepreneurship.

Please contact Brandy Whitlock, Conference Committee Chair, with questions at chair@milexmd.org.

The Maryland Information Literacy Exchange (MILEX) is a collaborative of Maryland academic librarians promoting information literacy in higher education.
